Subject: Thank you!

Annette,

Thank you so much for your moving Nonprofit HR Solutions to a new space to "be" who we knew we needed to "be" for so long. You provided a clearing for us to design a new environment. The exercise today did it for me! I have recommitted myself in so many ways to help Lisa shape a phenomenal business. Today I also realized that 2010 is going to be great, but that greatness may just happen with Nonprofit HR Solutions. When I heard how engaged and jazzed everyone is about the business and how grateful they are for the opportunity to be a part of something that is about to explode, my heart filled with joy. The energy was contagious. I drove home so grateful and in a new space of how I want God to work in my life. I trust that He has designed the remainder of 2009 and 2010 is going to be bigger and better. Today was a validation of sorts for me personally and professionally. I want to live in the present and live each moment as if tomorrow is not promised. I choose to celebrate each day that God grants me.

We were all holding so much in and to release our thoughts was profound! I told Lisa, I wish we could have bottled up what we experienced. We will remember this for the rest of our lives and that moment will forever remain as a moment where we were one, a team that is committed to something greater that has yet to be designed.

I am so committed to the success of others and who they are as a part of the team and in their personal lives. This experience opened up windows for the bad stuff to disappear. It also opened up doors for all of us to walk through knowing that we have a new purpose for something bigger than Nonprofit HR Solutions. Nonprofit HR Solutions is a catalyst and we are suppose to make it great. We are suppose to be on purpose building it. We are suppose to be deliberate and diligent in our efforts.

I called Lisa tonight and I told her thank you again and I had no idea that we were holding so much in that was keeping us from being authentic and being in the space to create something larger than us. We were so self absorbed that I couldn't stand it! So this moment today will forever change a million after.

Thank you for your guidance and leadership. I just love being around you and you so inspire me to be something more and to be true to myself and others. Thank you for reminding me why I love Nonprofit HR Solutions and why my life is so enriched by the experiences that have made me the person that I am today. Thank you Annette, thank you. I love you. See you soon.

Regards,
