Dear Susan:

On behalf of all the Next Gen-ners who attended the Saginaw Valley State University Family Business Program workshop last week, I'd like to extend my appreciation for your insightful remarks.

As you well know, professional coaching is becoming increasingly popular, and the information you were able to provide about its potential application and value was very useful to our attendees.

I especially appreciate your making the extra effort to brave our challenging Michigan weather, and drive up here to keep your commitment, despite the road conditions.

Best regards,
